EYE ON EPASS

In the coming weeks! ...

The Spring 2012 semester is bringing with it an abundance of change to the EPASS tutoring program. In response to a constantly growing demand for content specific support in the introductory biology, chemistry and physics courses, as well as, organic chemistry, we are providing weekly drop-in tutoring in the Math and Science Reading and Tutoring room. These drop-in tutoring appointments will provide students with the opportunity to ask short, content specific questions to tutors without scheduling an appointment.

DROP IN TUTORING SESSIONS

Math & Science Reading and Tutoring Room

Sunday - 6 to 8pm

Monday thru Wednesday - 7 to 9pm

for more information, go to our website

We are also piloting small group tutoring appointments, with two or three students per appointment, as well as, providing 30 minute tutoring appointment options. Not to worry, we will of course still be offering the one on one tutoring that EPASS is known campus wide for. For a complete listing of all of our tutoring availabilities, login to TutorTrac with your Emory University network ID.

Tutor Talk

This portion of the newsletter is usually devoted to introducing you to the EPASS tutors, however we thought that we would share some feedback from the students utilizing the EPASS tutoring program. This feedback was provided by a survey distributed by the tutors to the students that they worked with.

“EPASS is an absolutely great program and essential to the Emory community. Good work.”

“The two tutors I worked with we’re fantastic resources. When there weren’t enough appointment times, they added extra hours or made time during their weekends. I thought that showed how committed they were to helping their students learn.”

“My tutor was amazing and really assisted me through my coursework difficulties. She was encouraging, open to questions, and went above and beyond in tutoring.”

“Working with my tutor improved my test grade by nearly 30 points.”

“My EPASS Tutoring experience made me want to become a tutor”
