Previous Winner Profile:
Garrett Turner (’12C) Marshall Scholarship
Currently: Pursuing performing career in NYC

So much happened during my Marshall years. I met Prince Charles, toured Europe, lectured and performed at universities across the UK, and cultivated friendships with some of the most amazing people I will ever know. I was surprised by the endless unexpected opportunities that presented themselves simply because of my involvement with the Marshall Scholars community.

I also discovered my career path during my Marshall years. Before going to the UK, I had in mind that I would get my PhD in Creative Practice and become a professor who writes poetry and plays and sings in a choir every now and then. Through studying theater in London and participating fully in the theater community there, I finally found the courage to pursue a career performing.

My Emory education helped prepare me for the Marshall experience by teaching me how to think critically and sharpening my ability to articulate an argument or idea in a pressurized, fast-paced environment. I used those skills over and over again during my time in the UK, where I completed an MA in Theatre and Performance at Queen Mary, University of London, and an MA in Music Theatre at Royal Central School of Speech and Drama.

To view a video interview with Garrett, visit: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Uq3t3V1AfM.

What advice would you give current Marshall applicants?
Leave all pretense behind and just tell your story, as plainly and directly as possible.

Upcoming Deadlines

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Deadline</th>
<th>Fellowship</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 20</td>
<td>Ford Fellowship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dec. 5</td>
<td>NPSC Fellowship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dec. 10</td>
<td>Carnegie Fellowship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jan. 6</td>
<td>Goldwater Scholarship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jan. 7</td>
<td>Truman Scholarship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jan. 12</td>
<td>HIA Fellowships</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jan. 13</td>
<td>Bobby Jones Fellowship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jan. 15</td>
<td>Rangel Fellowship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jan. 19</td>
<td>Pickering Fellowship</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Bobby Jones Scholarship</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Application Advice:
Cultivating Mentoring Relationships
Part II: Working with Your Mentor

Mentoring relationships significantly enrich your experience at Emory. Mentors help guide your academic and professional experiences and connect you with resources and colleagues that help you succeed.

Working with your mentor:

- Show up for every meeting prepared
  - Bring relevant materials
  - Bring a written, prioritized list of topics and questions for discussion
- Follow your mentor’s advice and recommendations
- Communicate regularly with your mentor about your progress
  - Maintain contact with your mentor even during periods of little progress or when you’re encountering problems
  - Share your accomplishments and achievements
- Ask your mentor to introduce you to colleagues, potential employers, and other professionals who might help you develop your skill set and advance your academic and professional goals
- Ask your mentor to consider nominating you for awards and honors for which she/he thinks you are a strong candidate
- Respect the boundaries of the mentoring relationship
  - The relationship may be friendly, but should be professional
  - Be respectful of your mentor’s time and other responsibilities and duties
- Don’t wait until the last minute to schedule a meeting when you need advice
- Be sure to follow up appropriately with your mentor

Next Issue: Developing a strong CV/ résumé.