DOMESTIC TRANSIENT STUDY
ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

In order to apply for Domestic Transient Study you should read the list below to ensure that you are eligible to participate in the program. If you have any questions or concerns about these requirements please e-mail us at transientstudy@emory.edu.

1. Entering first-year students are allowed to transfer a combined total of eighteen credit hours (with a maximum of 12 hours from AP/IB credit) into Emory from the following sources:
   a. AP Credits, IB, French Baccalaureate, A Level exams, and all other international exams credits
   b. Other college credit
   c. Transient study credits earned after the first year at Emory.

2. All students must be in good academic standing, with a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or higher.

3. Schools that offer Transient Study must be accredited and located within the United States.

4. International Students who wish to take courses in their home country should apply for permission through the Study Abroad Office.

5. Oxford Students must apply through Oxford College.

6. No transfer work or credit will be awarded for course work done during the summer without prior approval.

7. If you are unable to enroll in the courses that you list on your original application, you may file a Supplemental Application listing the courses that you actually completed and/or the school(s) you actually attended, along with new course descriptions. (Use good judgment in selecting alternate courses – refer to your Emory Catalog to ensure courses match the description of the correlative Emory course.)
8. All courses must be taken for a letter grade, and students must earn at least a "C" in a course in order to receive credit. (You may not receive credit that will result in your having more than 64 hours of credit.)

9. Successfully complete pre-requisite(s) for course(s), if applicable.

10. Emory awards no academic credit for study at another college or university (transient study) that has not been placed on the student's official transcript by the end of that student's first semester on campus following the completion of the transient work itself.
