Join this discussion to share your experiences about engaging learners in synchronous and asynchronous activities, how you set up your Canvas course to support teaching and learning, and even share experiences that support your growth as a teacher.

Empathy & Flexibility
Coffee Chat

Panelists: Emmy Corey, Andrew Kazama, Kim Loudermilk, Sara McClintock, Donna Troka, & Ymir Vigfussen

The realities of remote learning during a pandemic prompted many instructors to adapt more flexible class policies. Many instructors were surprised by the positive impact of these approaches. Others found a tension between rigor and pandemic-era approaches to learning. This session will explore which of these policies may have a place in our new “normal,” which may be adapted, and which may be left behind.
